

Dr. Catherine Crosland

Dr. Catherine Crosland, has spent her medical career advocating for and delivering high quality health care to vulnerable populations and combatting structural racism and the resulting health disparities. As a doctor with Unity Health Care for over fourteen years, she provides medical care for people experiencing homelessness in Washington DC in a variety of clinical settings ranging from shelter-based clinics to street outreach. She brings her clinical experience to bear on addressing gaps in care and advocating for systems changes to end homelessness and improve health outcomes for her patients.