

Ishaan Akula

Ishaan is a passionate advocate for sustainable social change through policy and entrepreneurship, striving to create a more equitable world by improving education and affordable housing access. He founded the Online Monmouth Math Competition (OMMC) during his freshman year, uniting students across the nation in collaborative math competitions. OMMC now engages over 5.3k students annually. Ishaan also co-developed Resilient, a platform, aiding housing insecure and homeless individuals. He is now serving as the National Youth Division Leader for the Bring America Home NOW campaign to mobilize youth for housing policy change, working alongside National Campaign Director, Francis Kalombo Ngoy.